

Enabling people to learn, enjoy and engage with the story of the Royal Navy and understand its impact in making the modern world.

The National Museum of the Royal Navy
HM Naval Base (PP66), Portsmouth
Hampshire PO1 3NH

RESEARCH PROGRAMME 2011-2012

Seminars, conferences and lectures presenting new research and perspectives on naval history at the National Museum of the Royal Navy, Portsmouth.

Seminars presenting new research on aspects of naval history:

These seminars are a new venture for the Museum. New and established scholars will present their latest academic research, analysis and opinions on their areas of expertise.

2011

12 October
1730-1830

The Royal Navy, the Dardanelles and Gallipoli 1915-1940
Prof Richard Harding, University of Westminster

9 November
1730-1830

RM Memorials: The Public Memory of the Royal Marines in Combat.
Dr Kevin Harris, independent scholar

14 December
1730-1830

'I dunno what we'd do without our cinematograph': Naval port town cinema-going in the early twentieth century
Dr Rob James, University of Portsmouth

2012

11 January
1730-1830

The Falklands War (1982). The Experiences of Naval Wives and Families.
Ms Vicki Woodman, University of Portsmouth

8 February
1730-1830

Soldiers or Sailors? Royal Marines: A Unique Fighting Force
Dr Britt Zerbe, independent scholar

14 March
1730-1830

Those they left behind: Naval families during the Napoleonic Wars
Dr Helen Doe, University of Exeter

9 May
1730-1830

Packing a Punch: Naval cartoons in print, propaganda and private scribbling
Mr Matthew Sheldon, NMRN

All seminars will take place in the Princess Royal Gallery, NMRN Portsmouth and are free of charge.

Researchers wishing to contribute papers on any aspect of naval history to the 2012-13 seminar series should email a title and a 300 word abstract of their proposed paper, plus a one page CV to Dr Duncan Redford at duncan.redford@nrmn.org.uk

Conferences:

2012

19 May
0930-1830

The Falklands War 30 years on

This conference will cover aspects of the maritime conflict from the perspectives of Britain, Argentina or neutral states. Topics may include; war memory, veterans' issues, the use of maritime airpower, amphibious warfare and amphibious forces including Marines, submarine warfare, the legacy of the conflict (including corporate responses to the conflict and lessons learned), domestic, social and cultural issues.

To register an interest in attending this conference contact:

Dr Duncan Redford:
duncan.redford@nrmn.org.uk

Ms Vicki Woodman:
v.woodman@ntlworld.com

or write to:

The National Museum of the Royal Navy
HM Naval Base (PP66), Portsmouth
Hampshire PO1 3NH

Special Lecture:

2012

13 June
1730-1830

The First Sea Lord's Annual Lecture on Naval History and Strategy

Prof Andrew Lambert, King's College London

Attendance at this event is by ticket only.

To request tickets contact:

Emma Nash
emma.nash@nrmn.org.uk

or write to:

The National Museum of the Royal Navy
HM Naval Base (PP66), Portsmouth
Hampshire PO1 3NH